

Lucia Scharl

Lucia Scharl, born in 1994, studied law at the Ludwig-Maximilians-University of Munich, specialising in unfair commercial practices and intellectual property. During her legal training, she gained practical legal experience in various commercial law firms, a law firm specialising in public law and at the Higher Regional Court of Munich. Lucia is currently studying for a Master's degree in „Intellectual Property Law“ at Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf, specialising in trademark and patent law as well as unfair competition practices.

Lucia has been admitted to the bar since 2022. She initially worked in a medium-sized law firm specialising in commercial law. Her work there focused on food law and intellectual property law, among other things.

Lucia joined the Meisterernst Rechtsanwälte team in June 2024. She advises national and international companies from the food sector on regulatory issues and represents them before court and in administrative proceedings. She also specialises in organic law, plant-based alternative products and sustainability issues including green claims and packaging law.

Lucia regularly publishes and lectures on current topics. She advises in German and English and is also a native speaker of Croatian (Serbian/Bosnian/Montenegrin).
